

Programs and Communications Agent

The Montreal Holocaust Museum educates people of all ages and backgrounds about the Holocaust, while sensitizing the public to the universal perils of antisemitism, racism, hate and indifference. It promotes respect for diversity and the sanctity of human life.

The Museum is looking to hire an intern for the position of Communications and Events Agent. This person will organize the promotion of our temporary exhibit "Tell me a Story: Youth Literature and the Holocaust" from December 5, 2019 to March 1, 2020 at the Montreal Holocaust Museum.

Description of tasks:

- Employ strategic promotion methods to maximize visibility and build interest among diverse publics for the exhibition
- Organize the planning, production and implementation of promotional tools (printed and digital) for the exhibition
- Organize the vernissage and de-vernissage of the exhibit (program, guests, catering, etc.)
- Develop partnerships for related programming: negotiate and manage terms and ensure that agreements are respected
- Participate in the organization of events
- Produce a communications plan to ensure future bookings and travel of the exhibit within the next year

Required Qualifications:

- The candidate must be bilingual (excellent written skills in English (advanced) and French):
- The candidate must be a recent graduate of a program in communications, marketing, museum studies or another relevant program
- Excellent eye for detail and organizational skills
- Resourceful, independent, good management of priorities and the ability to work well within a team
- Interested in history, the Holocaust, human rights and current events
